CORONATION DAY AT THURLSTONE!

On Friday 5th May we are having a special day at school in celebration of the Kings Coronation. Your children can come to school in any red, white and blue clothing they may have - and if you want to go full on royal dress-up, then feel free to use your imagination!

Because we all like to see each others outfits, we will have a 'Right Royal Parade' in the playground in the afternoon, with a small prize for the most creative outfits!

During the day we will be reading this wonderful book. As you will probably know, the King has a passion for nature and conservation, so we are going to use this book as an inspiration for our Coronation Art project.

The book is beautifully illustrated by lots of wonderful artists, so we have chosen the illustrator Poonam Mistry, as our inspiration for our art work. We will share the our final creative artwork via a virtual gallery on Dojo!
