Friday's Cheesy But Wise Words of Wisdom

When you see something beautiful in someone, tell them. It may take a second to say,
but for them it could
last a life time.

Children's Mental Health Week will take place from 5-11 February 2024. The theme this year is 'My Voice Matters'.

My Voice Matters is about empowering children and young people by providing them with the tools they need to express themselves.

We take the mental health and wellbeing of everyone at Thurlstone very seriously, so we will be spending the week putting extra emphasis on the mental health and wellbeing our AMAZING children!

There will be assemblies, class based activities and then on Friday 9th Feb it will be...

DRESS TO EXPRESS DAY!

On this day your child can wear whatever they like (and is age appropriate) to school! If they would like to wear something which tells us and their friends more about themselves, then that's even better! For example:

If your child loves horse riding - why not wear riding gear?

If your child loves gymnastics - why not wear their gym gear?

If your child loves bright colours - why not wear bright colours?

If your child is mad about Star Wars - why not wear an costume or t shirt?

I'm sure you get the idea!

Dress to Express Day is exactly that!

wear what you feel expresses who you are!
